Households and Neighborhoods

Unlike a traditional or institutional model of care, residents at Ohio Living Ganzhorn Suites live in private suites within buildings we call "households." Each household is self-contained with a dedicated kitchen, dining area, den, laundry room, and circular hallway path to minimize confusion and help residents feel like they are never far from home.

The Liberty and Wedgewood Households in the North Neighborhood are mirrors of each other and share a large secure courtyard for family visits and outdoor exercise. The Kinsale and Scioto Households in the South Neighborhood also reflect each other and share a courtyard.

The North and South Neighborhoods are symmetrical, with the South Neighborhood welcoming residents who are more independent and the North Neighborhood caring for those who need more assistance. This symmetry allows a resident who needs to transition from one neighborhood to another to do so with less agitation and trauma from the change.
